

Microlinea in Knotty Pine finish

Precision Architectural Lighting's specialty finishes offer an aesthetically appealing substitute for wood and natural stone, helping to conserve our natural resources. These powder coatings realistically resemble pine, oak, mahogany, marble, granite, and other special effects. They are durable enough to be used in high traffic architectural applications, are easily cleaned and eliminate the weight and cost typically associated with wood and stone. Add style and sophistication to your next project with one of these unique finishes.
